Sevenoaks Senior College offers senior secondary schooling to students in Years 11 and 12. The adult learning environment and campus functions more like a university than a school. Students are treated like adults and are empowered to make the most out of every learning opportunity.

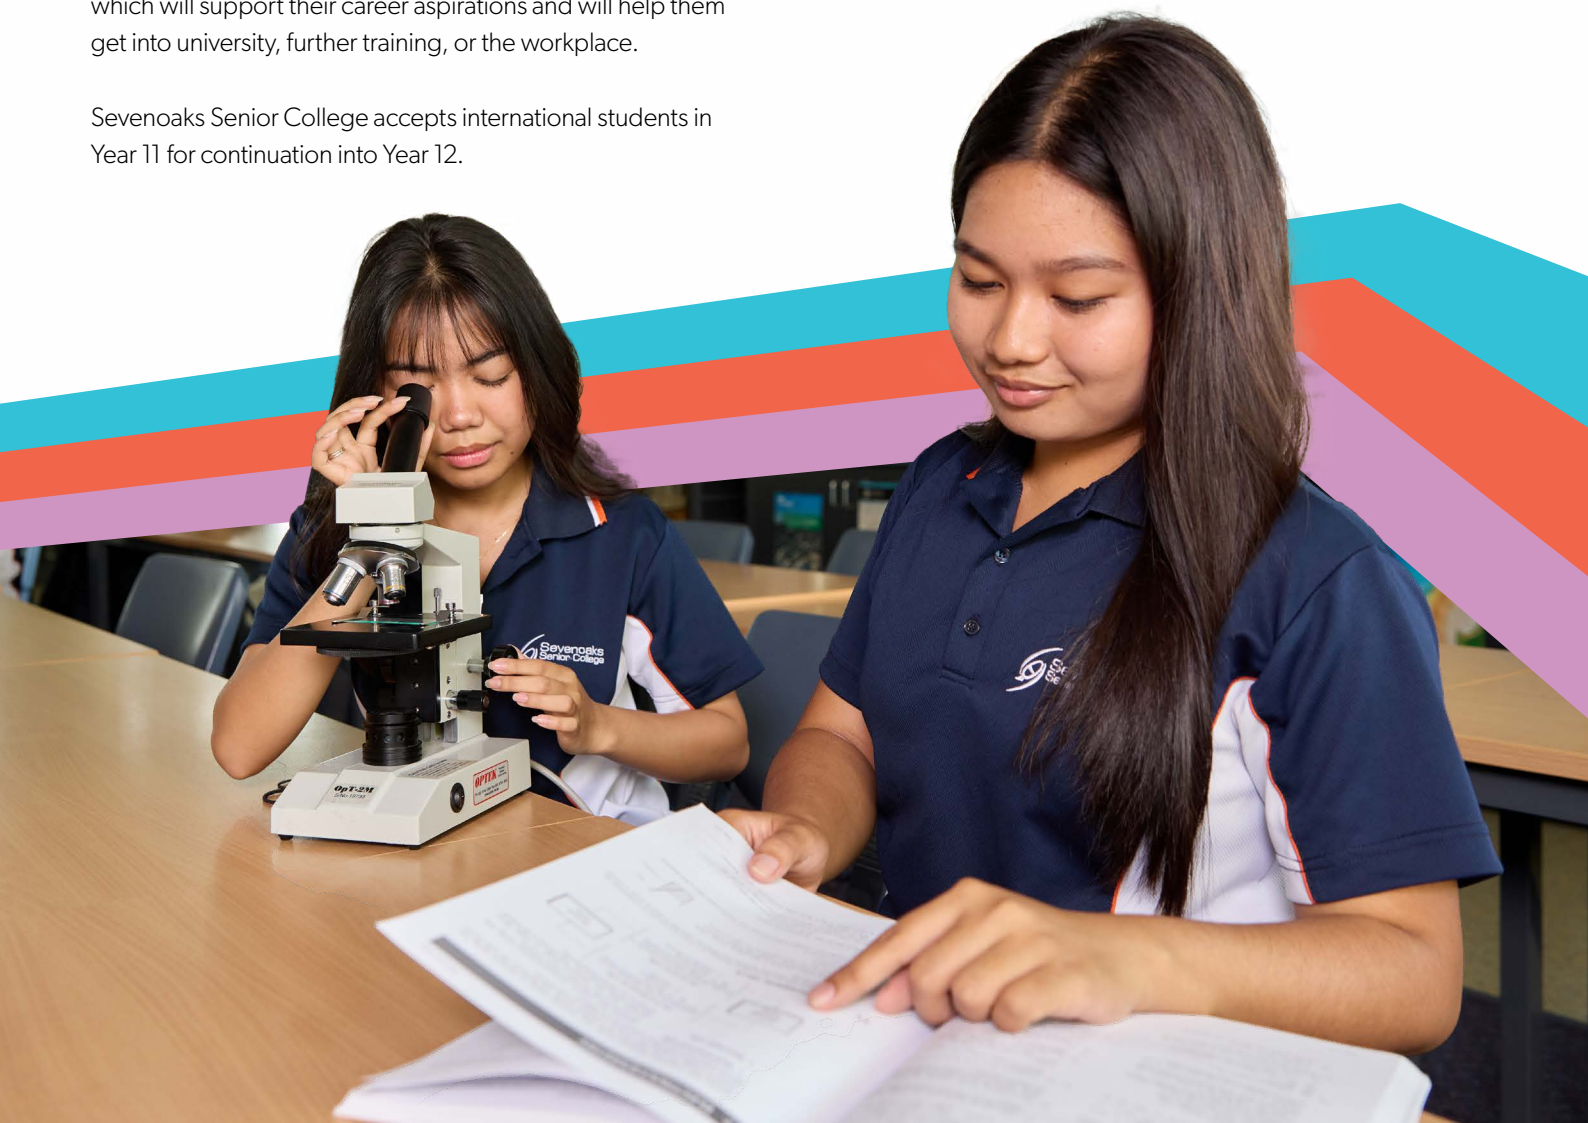

There are many specialist programs at the school. Students can learn automotive and engineering skills, prepare for a career in nursing, and study a range of courses and training certificates which will support their career aspirations and will help them get into university, further training, or the workplace.

Sevenoaks Senior College accepts international students in Year 11 for continuation into Year 12.

Education

Sevenoaks Senior College provides students with the flexibility to explore different career pathways. Students choose courses that will help them achieve their future goals, including Australian Tertiary Academic Rank (ATAR) courses, general courses, and vocational education training.

The college focuses on the learning skills of collaboration, digital literacy, critical thinking, and problem solving. Teachers are experts in the courses they teach and know how to support the unique needs of international students. The school also has partnerships with universities and industry, who help students prepare for tertiary education and gain employment.

Support for students

A dedicated student services hub works together to support the wellbeing of international students. The hub includes a student support manager, student support coordinators, youth workers, a psychologist, and a nurse.

The hub has its own chill zone, where students can relax and play games with other students. There is a careers counsellor who provides guidance about career pathways. Students are also welcome to join special committees where they can connect and make friends.

Settling in

Students at Sevenoaks Senior College feel welcome by teachers and students in the community. Every student has an advocate, who supports them with their academic and social development. Students meet with their advocate every week.

Sevenoaks has a flexible timetable. Students arrive for their first class and leave at the end of their last class. School days range from 8:40 am to 4:30 pm.
